

Let Your Passion Show!

Creating the space of your dreams with a qualified, professional designer should be fun and rewarding. Here are a few suggestions on how to get the most out of your relationship with your Morris Black designer.

Set an investment goal.

Make this step one, before you begin your project. Your designer cannot give you budget-friendly advice without a bottom line.

Show your designer what you like.

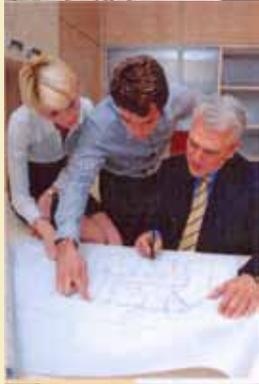

Convey your needs, your preferences, and your vision in both words and pictures. Collect photos from magazines or from the Morris Black website of the rooms, furniture and color schemes you like, and use this to illustrate your ideas. This will give your designer a place to start in creating a design especially for you.

Keep and open mind.

Be open to new and different ideas. Your designer will come into the project with a fresh viewpoint and a lot of knowledge and experience, and may suggest an interesting out-of-the-box design. This is a major investment and you may not want to settle for the status quo.

When you have a plan, stick to it.

Once underway, changes cause extra expenses and delays. Review the final version carefully; once you are satisfied and understand the project scope thoroughly, move ahead with confidence, knowing that you have an experienced team supporting you every step of the way.

Picking the Perfect Partner for your Kitchen or Bath Project

Why It Pays to Work with a Professional Designer

Kitchen or bath remodeling projects can range from upgrades to elaborate transformations, a process that can be overwhelming and quite stressful. The myriad product choices and design options make kitchen and bath projects far more complicated and challenging than any other part of the house. That's why so many smart homeowners choose to work with a professional kitchen and bath designer.

A qualified professional designer can alleviate much of the stress commonly associated with home renovation projects and also ensure that any time and money you invest is well spent.

A designer who is a certified kitchen and bath design specialist offers added value, because his or her comprehensive knowledge in space planning and construction can provide innovative and cost-effective solutions to the trickiest problems.

In choosing a designer, look for a professional, industry-trained and credentialed kitchen/bath designer from a reputable firm likely to be in business for years after you complete the project. Ask to see past projects, a portfolio and references. You'll find all of these qualifications fulfilled at Morris Black Designs.

Morris Black is proud of our team of highly-experienced kitchen and bath design professionals. Here's what they bring to your project:

- Local and national award-winning designers who understand the latest design trends, finishes, and products, as well as the technical aspects of good space planning and design.
- Skill in listening carefully to your needs and ideas, and translating your dreams into unique plans that are functional, beautiful and appropriate to your lifestyle.
- Beautiful hand-drawn plans, perspectives and other drawings to help clarify concepts and designs
- Recognition of the importance of consumer health and safety in design, as well as leading-edge, eco-friendly products.
- An understanding of all local codes and regulations, including NKBA standards, safety and environmental issues.
- Experience in coordinating colors and textures to create pleasing palettes that bring your plans to life.
- Morris Black Designs is passionate about what we do. Our expert designers will work with you to create a kitchen, bath, or other living space that is carefully planned, beautifully detailed, and flawlessly installed.

Call for appointment to speak to a Morris Black Designer: 610-264-2700